An ever-growing Eucharistic community boldly serving others through God's love

As we pray for all our departed loved ones, we especially remember the faithful whose funerals we celebrated during the past year here at the Church of the Resurrection.

Please remember these and all the faithful departed in your prayers:

*Eternal rest,
grant unto them, O Lord.*

And let perpetual light shine upon them.

*May the souls
of all the faithful departed,
through the mercy of God,
rest in peace. Amen.*

Quiz Question

Last week, I provided a question on New Testament figures.

Question: Which of the following is not a New Testament figure?

- a. Paul
- b. Judas Iscariot
- c. Matthias
- d. Timothy
- e. Judas Maccabeus
- f. Silas (Silvanus)
- g. Anna (the Jewish prophetess)

Answer: e. Judas Maccabeus (for his story see Biblical Terminology below). The other choices are rather well known figures except for Silas/Silvanus. His story I will also share under Biblical Terminology.

Next, let us take a look at saints. I am going to provide a brief description of ten saints and the names of the ten saints. What you must do is match the description with the saint. Your choices are: Peter, Elizabeth, John the Baptist, Joseph, Anne, John the Apostle, Patrick, Paul, John Vianney, Veronica

Now, your ten brief descriptions.

- I am the apostle to the Gentiles whose letters you read in the Bible.
- I am the foster father of Jesus and the patron saint of a happy death.
- I am the cousin of Jesus who baptized many people and the Lord.
- I am the woman who offered my veil to wipe Jesus' face when he was carrying his cross.
- I am the apostle chosen by Christ to be head of the Church.
- I am the missionary who made Ireland famous for its piety and learning.
- I am the beloved apostle and the writer of the fourth gospel.
- I am the cousin of the Blessed Virgin Mary and whose child was John the Baptist.
- I am the mother of the Blessed Virgin Mary.
- I am the simple parish priest who was tormented by the devil because my great sanctity brought my people closer to God.

Remember, match the name with the brief description.

Good luck. I'll provide the answer next week.

Biblical Terminology

We continue our work of defining words and names from the pages of the Bible. My source for this is Harper's Bible

Dictionary, Harper & Row Publishers, Copyright 1985.

Judas Maccabeus – the third of five sons of Mattathias. After Antiochus IV Epiphanes polluted the Temple in 167 B.C. (“the abomination that makes desolate”) Mattathias moved with his family to Modein (1 Macc. 2:1-14). When officials of Antioch sought to force Mattathias and his family to apostatize, Mattathias rose up in defense of the law and the covenant, killed an officer, and led his sons into the wilderness in revolt (1 Macc. 2:15-48). Upon the death of his father, Judas successfully led Israel in numerous battles against the Syrians. He defeated a combined army of Syrians and Samaritans, after which the Temple was purified. Judas continued to lead Israel in battle with great success, liberating Jews from surrounding territories and even making a treaty with Rome. Finally, against a Syrian army led by Bacchides, Judas fell in battle in 160 B.C.

Silas/Silvanus – generally regarded as alternate names for the same person, Silas/Silvanus was a leader in the early church and an associate of Paul. The Letters of Paul and 1 Peter refer to him as Silvanus but Acts prefers Silas. According to Acts 15:22-35, Silas and Judas Barsabbas, prophets in the Jerusalem church, were sent along with Paul and Barnabas to take the apostolic decrees from the Jerusalem conference to the church in Antioch. Silas's background was probably similar to that of Barnabas and John Mark, and it was thus perhaps no accident that they encountered one another more than once in early Christian history. For example, when Paul and Barnabas at Antioch quarreled over Mark, Paul chose Silas to accompany him on a mission tour of Asia Minor and ultimately into Macedonia and Achaia. Silas (Silvanus) is mentioned in the Letters of Paul (1 Thess. 1:1; 2 Thess. 1:1; 2 Cor. 1:19) and in 1 Peter (5:12). Except in 2 Cor. 1:19, he is connected with the writing of the Letters. He is either a co-author (in the case of Paul) or a secretary or courier (in the case of 1 Peter). Certainly Silas was an important figure in the churches in Macedonia (Acts 18:18 suggests that he may have remained in Macedonia when Paul left) and may have been regarded as an apostle (1 Thess. 2:6). His early connections with the church in Jerusalem were no doubt helpful in giving added theological legitimacy to the Pauline mission. Silas's Roman citizenship, reported in Acts 16:37-38, would also have been of considerable personal help to Paul on his travels.

"I would like to thank all the parishioners at Resurrection for the incredible amounts of time and good will that they poured into this parish to make it a beautiful dwelling for God and a place of love, warmth, friendship and prayer for all who come through the doors. It is with sincere regret that I have to announce that I will no longer be able to serve on the staff at Resurrection as I will be taking a position with a different company in November. I hope to continue on as a volunteer in building up the venues, old and new, for people to know, love and serve Jesus Christ and each other. 2017 National Vocation Awareness Week

Prayer for Vocations

God our Father, You made each of us to use our gifts in the Body of Christ. We ask that You inspire young people whom you call to priesthood and consecrated life to courageously follow Your will. Send workers into Your great harvest so that the Gospel is preached, the poor are served with love, the suffering are comforted, and Your people are strengthened by the sacraments. We ask this through Christ our Lord, Amen.

Please personally encourage young people to consider a vocation to priesthood or religious life.

Liturgy Notes from Joann, Director of Liturgy & RCIA, dirliturgyrcia@rescathroch.org.

Liturgical Ministry – Sacristans, Altar Guild and Pew Police

A few weeks ago Father Schuster invited everyone to fill out a Connections Form with your current information (who you are, where you live, how we can reach you) along with your interest in volunteering for different ministries and activities within the parish community. As the Director of Liturgy and RCIA I also want to extend an invitation to you to consider how you might serve this community as a Liturgical Minister. Here are some opportunities that you may not be aware of.

Sacristans work behind the scenes preparing the bread, wine, vessels and liturgical books used at Mass and then cleaning the vessels after. The number of hosts and the amount of wine prepared depends on the number of people at Mass. The sacristan, after preparing a certain number of hosts for the Mass, counts the number of people in attendance so that hosts can be added or removed from the offertory plates before they are presented at the altar. This may seem like a strange detail to attend to, but ideally, a person attending Mass should receive Holy Communion from what has been presented at the offertory and consecrated at the Mass they are attending. So the job of a sacristan, while behind the scenes, plays an important role in our celebration at the Eucharistic table.

Members of the Altar Guild clean the vessels after daily Mass and care for the linens and altar clothes used at Mass. A purificator is a special cloth used at Mass to clean the vessels and wipe the rim of the Communion Cup. It is labeled with a red cross. Purificators and other linens that come in contact with the Body and Blood of Christ, are first rinsed in water before being laundered. The purpose of this rinse is to remove any remnants of the Body and Blood of Christ. The rinse water is poured directly into the ground in a special sink called a sacrarium (consecrated items are either buried or burned). After this rinse, the linens can be laundered as usual.

Pew Police are the folks who help clean up the pews after Mass. Whenever worship aides are used at a liturgy (weddings, funerals, Liturgy of the Hours) or envelopes and cards handed out – one or two or three or more always show up in the book holders in the pews. Sometimes they are scrunched into the bottom, sometimes they end up on the floor. The Pew Police help to straighten up the book racks and the pews so that our place of worship is welcoming and inviting for everyone. They see to it that hymnals are available in every pew and that kneelers and chairs are safe to use.

These ministry opportunities are open to families and individuals in high school and older. All involve some training. Fill out the Connections Form and give me a call. I am happy to show you what happens behind the scenes.

Music and Choral Director, choirdirector@rescathroch.org

Thinking back to last week's insights, what are everyone's thoughts regarding musical active participation? Do you sing, or not sing, in Mass? Are you inspired to sing any more (or less!) than you already do?

Whether or not you regularly sing along, I challenge each and every one of you to pick up the hymnal and turn to the songs the next time you're at Mass. For those of you that already are – fantastic! For those of you that aren't, consider prayerfully following along. You may even surprise yourself and start singing!

Here's this week's thought: *In the 1950s, the Roman Catholic Church was on the brink of reform. Local permissions began to be adopted on a universal level. Indeed, they underwent a domino effect as soon as they began. For example, "in 1953, permission was granted for the evening Mass throughout the whole Church; vernacular hymns during Mass were granted universal permission in 1955, along with the universal restoration of the Holy Week Rites; and in 1957, a shorter Eucharistic fast was promulgated for the universal Church."*¹ As recently called for in Mediator Dei, these reforms encouraged more active participation from the people.

*These changes were also instrumental in uniting the body of Roman Catholic worshipers at the liturgical level. Particularly, this modification of Holy Week had a powerful impact on congregations: "The revision was made with the intention of bringing the laity back to an active participation in the solemn liturgy of Holy Week, which had almost become the preserve of the clergy and which had little significance for the handful of the faithful who managed to attend."*² For many modern-day Catholics, Holy Week is considered the pinnacle of the Liturgical Year, which is likely a direct result of these 1950s Holy Week reforms.

Especially in light of the upcoming change in the last Sunday Mass here in Rochester, what do you think about evening Mass only being permitted from the 1950s onward? Or, can anyone imagine Holy Week before the revisions at this time? What about for those that remember it firsthand? I can't wait to hear your thoughts!

Hymnal Scavenger Hunt: How'd you do with last week's Hymnal Scavenger Hunt? It was Holy, Holy, Holy, which can be found in your green hymnal at #452 and in your red hymnal at #483. Here's this week's clue:

This repetitive song would have been quite appropriate last week, as we praised all of the holy men and women on Wednesday's solemnity.

Hint: The same composer also wrote Lead Me, Lord!

For the month of November, our Children's Ministry theme will be Gratitude or Thanksgiving. The book, 77 Ways to Pray With Your Kids by Jerry Windley-Daust, explores various ways that you can show gratitude for God's goodness. Please check out page 127-128 and review the various ways you can pray with gratitude. Remember the word Eucharist actually means thanksgiving. So, this is a perfect month to ask to grow in the virtue of gratitude.

Virtues in Practice: This month we learn about St. Elizabeth of Hungary and the Virtue of Stewardship which is returning your time, talent, and treasure to God. I asked Amanda Collett, an 8:30am Catechist for Sunday School, how the virtues of stewardship and gratitude are linked. She shared with me "as we pray to increase the virtue of gratitude or thanksgiving, a natural increase in the virtue of stewardship develops. Thanking and praising God leads to the desire to offer more of our time, talent and treasure to God." That being said, please make sure to complete and return the Connection forms. Your involvement in parish life helps create a vibrant parish community! St. Elizabeth of Hungary, pray for us! Amen.

News from Stacey, Grades 1-5, Family Ministry, dre1to5fm@rescathroch.org or 288-5528 x 108

Grades 1-5: We will have Faith Formation classes on Monday, November 6th at 4:30 and 6:00pm. Next Monday, November 13th, all families with children in grades 1-5 are invited to participate in the "Hail Mary, Full of Grace" Learning Centers. The centers will be open 4:00-7:00pm in Fr. Zenk Hall and all the classrooms. All homeschool, Catholic school, and public school families from Resurrection are invited. All those who seek to know more about Mary are welcome, also.

Parishioners of Resurrection, we need your loving donations: The children and families will be participating in "Hail Mary, Full of Grace" learning centers in November. It is our goal to be able to give every person (about 150) a rosary. If you have any rosaries (new, old, blessed, not yet blessed, and not broken) that you would like to pass down to the next generation, please bring them to the church office. Thank you for sharing your faith!

Virtues in Practice: During November, our virtue to practice is stewardship and our saints are St. Elizabeth of Hungary and Blessed Fra Angelico. Both of these saints help us to define stewardship as: returning to God the first fruits of your time, talent, and treasure.
