Weekly Words from The Rock

My Catholic Life has a series of questions and answers on the Catholic Faith. It can be found at the site "Catholic Questions and Answers: Questions and Answers from My Catholic Life!" I am going to share with you some of their questions and answers in the weeks ahead.

Questions: I met a Mormon guy while I was at a summer camp. He told me he was a Christian, but I always thought I heard that they aren't. What are they?

Answer: Good question! Though I'm not an expert on the Mormon religion I'd be happy to shed some light on this question and even broaden it to other Christian religions.

One of the most central beliefs of all Christians, including Catholics, is that there is one God. This God is the Father, Son and Holy Spirit. Three distinct Persons yet one divine Nature. The Council of Nicaea, in 325 AD, defined the Son as "consubstantial" with the Father. In other words, He is of the same substance or essence as the Father. This also applies to the Holy Spirit. God the Son also took on a second nature when He became man. So the Son is both God and man.

This central belief of Christianity is one not shared by Mormonism. Mormons claim to believe that Jesus is divine but that He and the Father are not of the same divine nature. Rather, they believe the Father, Son and Holy Spirit are three distinct gods. They believe these three gods are united in the same purpose but are not of the one and only divine essence.

Now that may all seem confusing and overly philosophical. But it really is at the heart of what we believe as Christians. Therefore, if anyone denies this fundamental belief, that there is one God rather than three gods, then we would have to say their beliefs are not the same as ours. So it's fair to say that Mormons and Catholics differ in our belief about the Trinity in an essential way. However, all of the mainstream Protestant religions believe the same as Catholics regarding the Trinity.

So what's the bottom line? The bottom line is that Mormons do not have the same essential Christian belief in the Trinity as we do. In fact, it is this essential difference that has led our Church to reject their baptism as a valid one even though they use the same words as we do. We do, however, accept other Christian baptisms as a valid Sacrament (such as Lutherans, Anglicans, Presbyterians, Baptists, etc.). We accept these baptisms as valid because they believe the same as we do regarding the Trinity and other essential aspects of the Christian faith.

If you were to talk to a Mormon, however, you may find that they do believe many things we do. For that reason we do not reject anything in their religion that is true. But we do reject their doctrine on the Trinity as well as a number of other essential beliefs regarding salvation, eternal life, Original Sin, Heaven, revelation, etc.

Mormons can certainly be good people and may claim to be Christians, but we do not believe they have the essential beliefs that makes a Christian a Christian.

Resurrection's 2020 Giving Tree

Resurrection's Giving Tree is now in the Gathering Space. A little change for the tree this year. We do not have tags to take from the tree for either Elder Care Ministry or Family Promise. However, please stop by the table near the tree to pick up information on how to contribute to these two ministries. Due to Covid 19, Family Promise will not take donations of household items this year. Instead they have registry lists through Amazon and Target. Please check the table for information regarding these registries or go to Family Promise's website for more information: familypromiserochester.org.

Resurrection's Stations of the Cross. They will be made in Italy, hand-carved, wooden and 3-D. Before ordering the Stations, we are seeking help in funding the project. People can contribute by check (make check payable to Church of the Resurrection with a note in the memo line of "Stations"). An extra envelope will be placed in the February packet of envelopes, or you can donate via On-line Giving through our website (rescathroch.org). Below is a form you can complete and submit with your payment.

Michelle's

Music & Choral Director & Coordinator of Liturgy
choirdirector@rescathroch.org

Do you know where the lyrics to "O Come, O Come, Emmanuel" originate? They are actually the prayers, or antiphons, spoken during evening prayer the last eight days leading up to Christmas. What I like to do is sing one verse a day within my prayers the octave before Christmas. But what I also like to do is ponder the differences between the song and the antiphons. First read the words of the antiphon for today:

O Key of David, O royal Power of Israel, controlling at your will the gate of heaven:
come, break down the prison walls of death for those who dwell in darkness and the shadow of death;
and lead your captive people into freedom.

Now read the words to the corresponding verse:

O come, Thou Key of David, come,
And open wide our heav'nly home;
Make safe the way that leads on high,
And close the path to misery.

There's quite a bit of difference, here, isn't there? I love the antiphon for its imagery and its thorough explanation of Christ, the conqueror of death and light of our salvation. But there is one fundamental thing that the song stresses far more than this and the other antiphons. It's the first two words of every verse, "O Come." With these two words, we invite Christ into our lives, to be present with and in us. That is my challenge for us today. Let's invite Christ into our hearts once again, that we might live lives that are holy and true.

Finally, I want to wish all of you a very blessed Christmas. You will be in my thoughts and prayers as we celebrate Christ's birth as one family, one spirit in Christ.

God Bless,

Michelle Perrier

Faith Formation

News from Stacey, Grades 1-5, Family Ministry, dre1to5fm@rescathroch.org or 288-5528 x108

Grades 1-5: We will not have Faith Formation classes on Mondays until the public schools open in January. Each child has a Take Home Faith Formation bag to pick up on a table in the Gathering Space.

Fourth Week of Advent: Dear God, it's almost Christmas. We are so excited! Please have Jesus' birthday celebration bring peace and joy to our family, friends, and to people everywhere. Amen. "May each Christmas, as it comes, find us more and more like him, who at this time became a little child for our sake, more simple-minded, more humble, more holy, more affectionate, more resigned, more happy, more full of God." ~ St. John Henry Newman

Teaching Kids to Respect Others: This week's chapter is called "We Care for Those Who Are Hurting and in Need." We can help our children realize illness, tragedy, poverty, and other misfortunes are not punishments from God. Our young people need to see that we help others because love compels us, not because it makes us look or feel good. We do not help others for rewards or out of fear of punishment. We help and care for others out of love. Jesus told us, "Whatever you did for one of these least brothers or sisters of mine, you did for me." Matthew 25:40 As a family, try to find ways to help others throughout the year, including praying for those who have less than we do and who are struggling to find the help they need. Teach your children to be a blessing to others through kind words, kind acts, and kind prayers.

St. Francis' peace prayer includes these words: Lord, make me an instrument of your peace. Where there is hatred, let me sow love. For it is in giving that we receive; it is in pardoning that we are pardoned; it is in dying that we are born again to eternal life. Amen.
