Weekly Words from The Rock

Ordinary Time

Father Schuster, for you personally, what are your thoughts and reflections on Ordinary Time? I will share with you the following:

1. Ordinary time is not called "ordinary" time because it is unexceptional. What marks Ordinary Time is that it is the longest season of the Church year. It is thirty-four weeks in length. One of the season has to be the longest and it happens to be Ordinary Time.
2. It is rich in our understanding of the work of Jesus Christ. The gospels of Ordinary Time are filled with stories of Jesus teaching, healing, bringing back to life and calling people to repentance. The stories still challenge today.
3. The green color of Ordinary Time is rich in symbolism. It is about life and growth. An example: When the gospel of the Golden Rule is proclaimed (Matthew 7:12), a challenge is given. We are to treat others the way we want to be treated. Are we perfect? I know I am not; thus, the challenge to grow. Closely aligned with growth is life. We can live opposite the Golden Rule however when our lives are zapped of life and strength. We can hate others yet want everyone to love us. But where does hate lead? To emptiness, a death of our spirit. The color green has a purpose – it is about growth and life.
4. Never forget where the gospels of Ordinary Time lead. It is the challenges of His teaching, healing and repentance which lead to his death and resurrection. While He was followed by some, He was hated and despised by many.

Just a few of my thoughts.

What does Ordinary Time mean to you?

The Wisdom of Fulton Sheen

I have been reading a book entitled The Wisdom of Fulton Sheen. The book shares a thread of Bishop Sheen's wisdom for each day of the year. In the weeks ahead, I would like to share some of his wisdom.

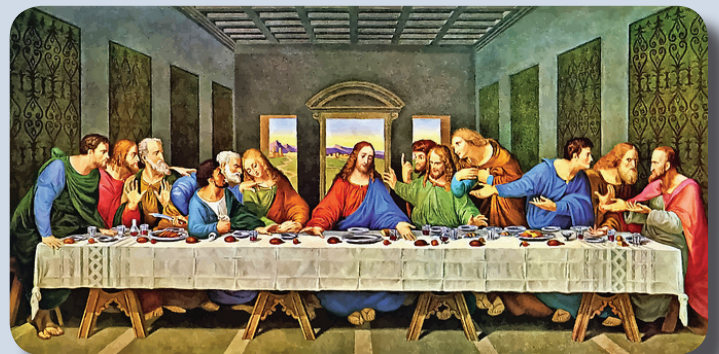

December 12 - "The world blessed not the meek, but the vindictive; it praises not the one who turns the other cheek, but the one who renders evil for evil; it exalts not the humble, but the aggressive. Ideological forces have carried that spirit of violence, class-struggle, and the clenched fist to an extreme the like of which the world has never seen."

December 13 – "Any book which inspires us to lead a better life is a good book."

December 18 – "If I were not a Catholic, and were looking for the true Church in the world today, I would look for the one Church which did not get along well with the world; in other words, I would look for the Church which the world hates. My reason for doing this would be, that if Christ is in any one of the churches of the world today, He must still be hated as He was when He was on earth in the flesh. If you would find Christ today, then find the Church that does not get along with the world."

Last Supper

In the week ahead, I want you to see if you can identify Judas Iscariot in the following photo of the Last Supper. There are two things which give Judas away. I will point out Judas for you in my column of next week.

Till next week, Fr. Peter Schuster

Michelle's

Music & Choral Director &
Coordinator of Liturgy
choirdirector@rescathroch.org

There are many parts of the Mass that the liturgist and priest plan. There are ones you'd expect, like the music and the homily, but some you might not have thought of before.

The Eucharistic prayers, for instance, need to be chosen and read from the Roman Missal, the huge red book that stays on the altar. The priest usually chooses them by reading the suggestions in a little book called the Ordo, which lists in detail the structure of every individual Mass in abbreviated terms.

Sometimes we have options for the collect or the concluding prayer, especially on major feast days. For those, we again look to the Roman Missal and pick based on what we want to focus on that Mass. Then there are the blessings. You're used to hearing the final blessings at the end of major feast days, but there are lots of other blessings, too. In fact, the Church's 900-page Book of Blessings has almost every kind of blessing you can think of, including one for fathers and another for seeds at planting time. Part of the liturgy, then, is planning which blessings to use and when.

There's also the Universal Prayer, more commonly known as the Prayer of the Faithful. The intentions can be chosen from various workbooks or written by the liturgist using the focus of the readings and current world situations. There are four kinds of intentions, all of which are present at each Mass and follow this order:

- For the needs of the Church;
- For public authorities and the salvation of the whole world;
- For those burdened by any kind of difficulty;
- For the local community. (General Instruction of the Roman Missal, 70)

Meet RCIA Candidate Debbie Mulvihill! Debbie grew up as Methodist. She married her husband, Richard, in the Methodist church but converted to the Lutheran Christian denomination and ended up leaving this faith as well.

Within the last couple years Debbie wanted to reconnect with faith but wasn't drawn back to either of her past faith practices. Debbie shares that she "wanted more spiritual fulfillment which is why I am now converting to Catholicism." Debbie enjoys listening to Catholic radio, dedicating daily time to prayer, and researching the saints.

Please keep Debbie and all the RCIA candidates in your continued prayers.
