Weekly Words from The Rock

The Crucifixion of Jesus Christ.

In this Easter season, we have looked at questions from a website entitled Fun Trivia on the crucifixion of Jesus Christ. The following are the answers to the final three questions I posed last week.

Question 1: Holy Thursday, the Day of the Last Supper, is properly known in parts of the world as what Thursday?

- a. Spy Thursday
- b. Maundy Thursday
- c. Chrism Thursday

Answer: B. Maundy Thursday. The word 'Maundy' is derived from the Latin word "mandatum" meaning commandment. Jesus gave a commandment at the Last Supper, "And now I give you a new commandment. As I have loved you, so you must love one another" (John 13:34).

Question 2: On the evening of Jesus' crucifixion, a rich man from Arimathea prepared Jesus' body for burial. His name was WHAT of Arimathea?

- a. John
- b. Joses
- c. Joseph
- c. James

Answer: C. Joseph

Question 3: In the Roman Catholic tradition, which is the only calendar day of the year on which Mass may not be celebrated?

- a. Easter Sunday
- b. Palm Sunday
- c. Good Friday
- d. Holy Thursday

Answer: C. Good Friday. The Mass on Holy Thursday does not conclude with a dismissal. The dismissal happens at the celebration of Easter. Thus, the gathering of God's people on Good Friday is not a Mass rather a service. Because of this, enough hosts must be consecrated on Holy Thursday to distribute for Holy Thursday and Good Friday.

Unleavened Bread.

Question: Regarding the bread that Jesus used at the Last Supper, would it have been unleavened, and if so, what did it look like and how was it made? What is the theological significance of unleavened bread?

Answer: It seems clear that Jesus would have used unleavened bread at the Last Supper. The ancient Jews were instructed to use unleavened bread during the feast of Passover. This is scripturally and historically linked to the fact that, in their hasty exodus from Egypt, there was no time to fully knead the dough and allow the bread to rise before baking it (cf. Deuteronomy 16:3). Thus, they baked it quickly without yeast. The Passover meal that commemorated the Exodus was, therefore, to be eaten with unleavened bread (cf. Exodus 29:2, Numbers 9:11).

Theologically, yeast or leaven in the New Testament often is equated with sin, impurity and hypocrisy (cf. Matthew 16:6, Luke 12:1, 1 Corinthians 5:6). Thus, unleavened bread comes to symbolize sincerity, purity and integrity. This, however, is a symbolic meaning, and there is nothing intrinsically evil about leavened bread.

Regarding what the bread was like, we must keep in mind several factors. Wheat bread, which is most common today, was far less common in the ancient world. Breads were more often made from other grains like barley. Second, bread can be baked in such a way that it has a dry, crackerlike quality. Bread also can be baked in a way so that it has a doughy, more pitalike quality. And this is so for both leavened and unleavened bread. Thus other than affirming the bread at the Last Supper was unleavened, we cannot be utterly certain of its other qualities.

Today, however, we must be clear: The Church requires that wheat bread, without any other admixtures, is necessary for the valid celebration of the liturgy.

I have been reading a book entitled The Wisdom of Fulton Sheen. The book shares a thread of Bishop Sheen's wisdom for each day of the year. In the weeks ahead, I would like to share some of his wisdom.

September 5 – "In moments when fear, agony and pain make it hard to pray, the suggestion of prayer that comes from merely holding the rosary is tremendous."

Michelle's

Music & Choral Director &
Coordinator of Liturgy
choirdirector@rescathroch.org

I once helped organize a two month study at a church where we learned about our faith, discussed it with each other, and were then called out to go forth and teach what we learned to others. I could tell all of us were ready to go out and serve, right up until a parishioner brusquely asked me, "Well, what are you planning on doing next at the church for us?"

Have you often noticed that at some point or another we do not take charge of our baptismal priesthood? It is not just the priest's duty to teach the faith, worship Christ every Sunday during the Mass, or to proclaim the Gospel to those who have stepped away from God. In fact, it is almost impossible for them to do that last part in particular. After all, they are at the church the entire day helping all of us find salvation. Why is it the priest's duty to live out your baptismal priesthood, too?

So let's look at ourselves. What are we doing to exercise our baptismal priesthood? Are we worshipping Christ, especially every single Sunday? Are we trying to grow closer to Christ through prayer, study, or service? Are we proclaiming the Gospel or encouraging others to come to Mass with us? Remember, a church is not a building. Rather, it is all of us as a community that together make up the Church as we actively work to live as Christ's Body here on earth.

So starting this week, I encourage all of us to point the finger back at ourselves and ask, "What am I planning on doing next to serve God and to help others come to know him, too?"

God Bless,
Michelle Perrier

Faith Formation

News from Stacey, Grades 1-5, Family Ministry, dre1to5fm@rescathroch.org.

First Communion Mass: Today, we celebrate with the children and their families as they receive the Eucharist for the first time. At their Eucharist learning centers, the children each write prayers of petition and thanksgiving. It is touching to know this class is so aware of the works of mercy, showing how to love our neighbors from around the world. Please pray with our children today:

Prayer Petitions: Dear God, please... Help the people in Ukraine; help my tooth come out and not to sin; pray for the sick; help my dad's hand heal; I pray for my family and friends; I pray for the poor; help me and my family be safe; help all those who live in war, help bring peace to the world; I want to make the earth the best planet; for people to be kind; healing for our family and friends; make my family better at not yelling; pray for the dead and poor; pray for my family and all those who need prayers.

Prayers of Thanksgiving: Thank you, God, for... The food we can eat and the water we can drink; protecting my family and keeping them all safe and healthy; the house I live in and keeping us warm; please look over the needy and stop the war in Ukraine; my family; giving me an amazing family; the birds that sing; everything; my family, friends and shelter; mommy and daddy; food and love and life and Jesus. Amen.

Teaching Kids to Care by Practicing Virtues: During the summer months, we'll be practicing virtues with the assistance of a catechist book by Sr. Janet Schaeffler, OP. This week, we are practicing helpfulness. Children are naturally sympathetic and have a desire to provide service or assistance to others. Adults can provide opportunities for children to help others to build on this sense of selfless giving. Point out the good things that happen and the people who are helping others and making the world a better place.

Prayer for helpfulness: Generous God, you give and give. We pray for hearts like yours, giving and helpful hearts. Show us how to make someone's day or to help them in a way that only we can. Make us sensitive to people's needs and open our hands. Amen
